

“A band that are making quite a name for themselves in the South West”

Enigma and Drama

This Devon-based six piece, combines guitars, keyboard, bass, drums and the powerhouse vocals of Louise Browne.

This genre-bending band of musicians have performed at festivals along with the likes of Ash, Scouting For Girls, Ella Henderson and Razorlight. Their performances, together with their well crafted original songs, thought provoking lyrics and energetic catchy tunes has enabled the band to build up quite a following. They are indeed making quite a name for themselves in the South West.

A number of their singles have been played on independent radio stations all over the world and the band's music is regularly featured on BBC Introducing.
